The large amount of dew is falling on the earth these murnings, leads us to suspect that the devil may not be cetting his.

Lawyer: " I wish you would pay a little attention to what I am saying, sir." Witness: "I am paying as little attention as I can."

An advertisement says, or Consumptives take no tice." This is certainly a cheap and harmless remedy to take.

It has been inferred that Dryden wasn't opposed to a shorry poblier, from a remark he once made: "Straws may be made the instruments of happiness."

Some one said to Victor Hugo once upon a time "It must be very difficult to write good postry." " No. sir," replied the poet, " its either very easy or atterly impossible."

The model husband has been found in Philadelphia He don't permit his wife to do but half the work. She puts up the canned fruit in summer, and he puts it down in winter. "You must have lived here a long time," said a travelling Eglishman to an Oregon pioneer. "Yes, sir. I have. Do you see that mountain? Well, when I came here that mountain was a hole in the ground." " From what you know of him, would you believe him under oath ?" " That depends on circumstances. If he was so intralcated that he did not know what he was saying, I would ; if not I wouldn't." An " American abroad " who had been disgusted with the frequent title-hunting mamma, sententions ly observed that " where the Marquis was, there would the mothers be guthered together,' An old barbeler, who died recently, left a will diwiding all his property equally among the surviving women who had refused him; " Because," said he " to them I owe all my earthly happiness." "My wife," remarks one Benedict to another " has just the loveliest head of hair you ever saw.

lets below her vaist." " That's nothing," replied the other. "When my wife let's her's down it falls A little boy entered a fish market the other day, and seeing for the first time a pile of lobsters laying on the counter, looked intently at them for some time, when he exclaimed: "Them's the biggest grasshopper I've ever seen." Reggar: "You haven't got such a thing as a pair of old pants, have you?" Merchant : "No. I don't keepmy wardrobe in my equating house." Beggar: "Then I'll call in the morning for the pair you have Travelier : " Third class to Dullingham." Ticket

Clerk (roughly) : " Can't yer read? This ain't third class." Traveller (mildly): "Beg pardon. Didn't look there. Made sure you were the third-class clerk-by your mauner." A Frenchman has discovered that human hair can be trunsplanted, and bald headed men can become reasonably hirsute by the process. It, however, requires more skill than landscape gardening, and only very rich men can stand the expense.

Old Friend (who has promised to take the girl for a sail) : " Yes, fine morning : but I'm not sure if there wont be some difficulty in getting the girls of." Mamma: "Oh, dear no! not if Young Brown and Jones go with you, surely."

Hot politician (who wants to have an argument, stopping a friend just as he is getting into a cab) : "I say, are you for the Turks?" Sporting friend (with gun case) : "Blow the Turks ! I'm for the Moors !" Drives off to Euston Square.

A sensible author says : " Have you enemies? go and mind them not." That's a capital plan, adds the Bridgeport Standard, especially if the enemy is

" Were you a member of the army?" asked a traveller of a wooden-legged man. "Yes, sir," was the reply : "I was membered by a recruiting officer, dismembered by a Russian artillerist, and re-membered by a peg-leg manufacturer.

An Irishman, fresh from the old country, saw a turtle for the first time, and at once made up his mind to capture it. The turtle caught him by the finger, and be, holding it out at arm's length, said ; "Faith, and ye had better let loose the howlt ye have, or I'll kick ye out of the very box ye sit in, be

A lady friend of ours says the beautiful vistas of her soul life become blurred when she sends her husband to the corner grocer with four bits for a loaf of bread, and he coming back chewing cloves and telling how he generously gave away the change to a blind man with only one leg.

The throne-room of the Sultan at Constantinople is gorgeous. The gilding is unequalied by any other building in Europe, and from the ceiling bangs one of the superb Venetian chandeliers, whose two hundred lights make a gleam like that of a veritable sun. At each of the four corners of the room, tall candelabra in Baccarat glass are placed, and the throne is a huge seat covered with red velvet, and with arms and back of pure gold.

He was a wild Texan, just from the frontier, and had boarded the train at Fort Worth for Dallas. It was his first ride on the "kers," and as the conductor reached is his hip pocket for his punch, the sharp eye of Texas caught a glimpse of its polished handle and quick as thought be levelled a navy six on the conductor saying, "Put'er up, or I'll blow daylight through you. No man can get the drop on me."
